“I love to hear taps echo through the cemetery,” he says, “I’m doing something for these guys. It’s kind of like being among friends” .

His cemetery visits started three years ago, after Gary attended a military funeral of a friend’s father, who had served during World War II . It bothered Gary that a recording was being used for taps and not a live bugler.

There was only one problem: Gary had never played a bugle. So he walked into a music store and bought a bugle. Then he started to practice, “It was awful”, says Gary’s wife. Joanie, with a laugh. Exposed to his playing, Gary’s neighbors were also annoyed. “We would have given up,” they say diplomatically. Instead, Gary kept on taking lessons. Eventually he passed his audition(试演) on the third try.

Gary volunteers at funerals roughly a hundred times a year, “I don’t play perfectly every time,” he says “But it comes from the heart” . He’s often found playing at local cemeteries, where the fallen soldiers were buried.

Gary is now 68 and comfortably retired but why is he so committed? He was almost certain he’d be heading to the battle field after collage, but a stomach ulcer(胃溃疡) prevented him from serving. Gary’s father had served during World War II , and some of his high school friends had already died in wars. “I was ashamed that I didn’t have to go and I was happy” .

Mario loves animals and wants to be an animal doctor. He volunteers at an animal hospital every Saturday morning. Mario believes it can help him to get his future dream job. IX. 书面表达

The Best Teacher in my Life

My teacher Mr. Wang is the best teacher I have ever had. Here are a few aspects of his teaching methodology and personality that I am going to explain.

He has a way of making people shut up. There are lots of teachers in my school who are not able to control the class. Some are able to make people quiet for a little while, but most times they are just pushing the whim of the students who are already too tired to be noisy. Mr. Wang is able to wield a certain amount of influence over the children so that they behave and will be quiet whilst the lesson is going.

He tells funny stories with his lessons. It is as if he looks at a curriculum and decides to get to the funny side of it when he does. It is like he recalls funny stories so that he can segue us into the new topic whilst we are laughing about it. The craziest thing is also that most kids now look forwards to his lessons. It is also easier to remember the stuff he segues into because we remember the funny story about it; like how I didn't know a large enough electrical charge could cause explosions until he told us the story about the metal spanner and car battery.

All in all, Mr. Wang scores perfectly on every aspect. He is a great teacher and worthy of awards.
