阅读短文，从每小题所给的 A、B、C 和 D 四个选项中，选出一个最佳选项。

Carl Allamby started his auto-repair business at the tender age of 19, working alone in a rented garage. Over the years it had grown into two shops with 11 employees, but Allamby longed for something more. At first, he thought it must have to do with growing his business even further. So at 34, Allamby decided to go for his bachelor's degree in business management.

After taking classes part-time over the next five years, Allamby was told he had to take biology to get his degree. The last biology class he had taken was in ninth grade. "What do I need to take biology for?" thought Allamby. It turned out to be the best thing that could have happened. Biology class reawakened a childhood dream that he had tucked away (隐藏) somewhere deep within himself. After the first day, I remembered this feeling of wanting to be a doctor back when I was younger," Allamby says.

Born in East Cleveland, Ohio, Allamby and his five siblings (兄弟姐妹) were raised by their stay-at-home mother and a father who sold home goods door to door. "As you can imagine, that didn't pay so well," Allamby says. Growing up in a poor African American neighborhood, he faced low expectations and numerous barriers to pursuing his dream. His school didn't offer advanced science classes. Even if it had, doing well in school could prove dangerous. "There were often times you wouldn't carry your books home due to the threat of being jumped," Allamby says. So he set aside thoughts of becoming a doctor and turned to more realistic career path — fixing cars.

But a different Carl Allamby walked into that biology class at 39. With the support of his wife and family, he took the science classes he'd need for a second career as a health-care worker. In 2015, Allamby entered Northeast Ohio Medical University. In 2019, at 47, Carl Allamby became Carl Allamby MD. He took a job in emergency medicine at Cleveland Clinic Akron General.

"Many say I shouldn't be a doctor. Whether it's because of my age, my race, my upbringing, my past career — these are all good reasons why I shouldn't be here. And yet, here I am," Allamby says.

54. Why did Carl Allamby decide to study business management?

Many people believe that they will be happy once they arrive at some specific goal they set for themselves.

许多人认为，一旦他们实现了自己制定的某个特定目标，他们就会快乐。

However, more often than not, once you arrive "there" you will still feel dissatisfied.

然而，一旦你实现了目标，你经常仍然会感到不满意。

You will move your "there" vision to yet another point in the future.

你会把你的视线转移到下一个将来的目标。

By always chasing after another "there," you are never really appreciating what you already have right "here."

总是不停追逐下一个目标，你从来不会欣赏你已经实现的东西。

As you strive to keep your focus on the present moment, you can experience the wonder of "here."

九、书面表达（共 1 题，满分 15 分）

A survey shows that while we are meeting more people online, the number of truly close friends we have in real life has dropped dramatically. What is your opinion on the phenomenon? Write a composition in English with the title More online friends, fewer real ones. The composition is required to contain at least 150 words. Please don't reveal your real name in it.

More online friends, fewer real ones.

A recent survey has been made, showing that while we are meeting more people online, the number of truly close friends we have in real life has dropped dramatically. As to this issue, opinions vary from individual to individual.

If I were forced to voice my opinions, I, doubtlessly, take the attitude that we are supposed to make more real friends. First and foremost, real friends laugh with you and cry with you and they calm your deepest fears and tickle all your funny bones; In addition, they are also your biggest critic and strongest supporter. You feel secure with them, and they encourage all your dreams and aspirations.

A man without real friends is an angel without wings. When we're down, real friends lift us up. When we lose our way, real friends guide us and cheer us on. Don't hesitate to contact our real friends. Show our friendship to them.

While it is OK to make friends online, but we should not go far beyond a friend.

The Internet presents an unreal world to us. It is not wise to make more online friends, because we don't know the online people, and the online people may cheat us. We can see many things like this from newspapers, TV programs and so on. So it is the bad aspect of making friends online.

十、教学设计（共 1 题，满分 10 分）

请根据下面的语言材料（八年级下册），用英文简述这节课的教学目标和教学重难点。

Green Switzerland

I love Switzerland. It is a county with high mountains and clean blue lakes. It is beautiful, and we should try to keep it that way.

In Switzerland, things like glass, plastic and paper are separated into different groups and then recycled. Even old clothes and shoes can be recycled. I learnt about an organization for recycling clothes. It collects old clothes from all over the country. Some of the clothes are sold in charity shops, some are given to the poor, and others are sent to factories for recycling. My family and I often send our old jeans and T-shirts to his organization.

Our government has many laws to protect the environment. For example, we are not allowed to cut down trees. Otherwise, we will be punished. If we drop litter in a public place, we will be fined by the police. There are also laws to limit air and water pollution.

Nature is our greatest treasure. We depend on its rich resources to live, so it is important for us to protect it wisely. Luckily, we are starting to use energy from the sun, wind and water. These new types of energy cost very little and will never run out. Moreover, they produce little pollution.

Today is 5 June, World Environment Day. What have you done for the environment? Remember that everyone can do something to make a difference!
